ALBANY—Additional businesses have signed on to the Governor’s holiday giving drive.

Verizon, Delta Air Lines, Time Warner Cable, and The Garden of Dreams Foundation have each pledged to contribute to the giving drive that will benefit families in communities hit hard by Hurricane Irene and Tropical Storm Lee.

“New Yorkers have always been the first to reach out a helping hand and I thank Verizon, Delta Air Lines, Time Warner Cable, and the Garden of Dreams Foundation for their generosity,” Governor Cuomo said. “This giving drive is designed to bring holiday cheer and much needed supplies to families and individuals in communities hit hard by the late-summer storms.”

The giving drive is part of the Governor’s “NYGives” campaign, a statewide effort to encourage charitable giving and generosity throughout the holiday season. “NYGives” connects businesses, not-for-profit organizations, and those seeking to give with organizations that directly serve New Yorkers most in need. The campaign will continue through the end of 2011.

Time Warner Cable is participating through an upstate food drive, internally at employee sites and through designated collection stations at their payment centers. The food drive will last through the New Year in Albany, Central New York, and Western New York areas of operation.

Delta Air Lines is participating through an internal collection drive for employees, with multiple collection sites at LaGuardia and JFK Airports. They will be collecting clothing, toys, non-perishable food items and household items.

The Garden of Dreams Foundation, in partnership with the New York Rangers, MSG Entertainment and generous fans will be donating 100 toys and 150 coats.

Verizon has donated $100,000 to the United Way of New York for flood relief efforts.

The Governor invites businesses and individuals to donate toys and other supplies to be distributed among families in communities hard hit by Hurricane Irene and Tropical Storm Lee.

Businesses and organizations already participating in the holiday giving drive include:

–Jetro/Restaurant Depot, has committed to increase its food bank food donations by 25%, from $200,000 to $250,000.

–General Mills has pledged to donate 15,000 boxes of Big G cereals to the Food Bank of Western New York inBuffalo, and a total of 3,000 cans of Progresso soup to be divided between the Food Bank for Westchester and the Food Bank for New York City.

–The Toy Industry Association has pledged to donate more than 500 toys.

Here are some ways New Yorkers can help:

–Bringing in unwrapped toys or supplies to Office of General Services (OGS) offices across the state, or mailing to OGS Mail Room, Nelson A. Rockefeller Empire State Plaza P1, Dock J,Albany,New York12242. OGS will arrange for these items to be distributed through charitable organizations.

–Donating to the United Wayof New York State or other charitable organizations that benefit the flood regions.

–Volunteering or bringing supplies to local food pantries (a list can be found at: <http://www.foodbankassocnys.org/find-food-bank.cfm>)

For New Yorkers wishing to make a financial contribution to affected communities, donation of funds can be directed to charitable organizations that support flood relief efforts, such as theUnited Way of New York.

Contributions may be made by sending a check to the Hurricane Irene Recovery Fund c/o United Way of New YorkS tate, 800 Troy-Schenectady Road, Latham, New York 12110-2424 or by visiting www.uwnys.org and clicking on the link on the home page to make a secure donation via credit card.

All contributions to the United Way of New York will receive an acknowledgement. 100% of all donations go directly to flood victims, and no administrative costs are taken out. 12-20-11
