

WESTCHESTER family™

April 2011

out & about

By Jean Sheff

Food Bank Westchester

The Food Bank for Westchester, which has been fighting hunger for more than 20 years, received a donation of $10,000 from Sam's Club, a division of Wal-Mart, Inc. Jennifer Logan, of Middletown, N.Y., came to the Food Bank's Millwood location to present the check from Sam's Club. The donation will be used immediately by the Food Bank to fight hunger in Westchester.

The check presentation was part of a planned visit to the Food Bank for Westchester by Sandra Lee, Food Network television host, magazine editor and author, who is touring food banks throughout New York State as part of her campaign to raise awareness of hunger. Ms. Lee visited the Food Bank in Millwood to meet with staff, board members and representatives from Food Bank member programs and to learn about local hunger issues. The Food Bank for Westchester, 358 Saw Mill River Road, Millwood. 923-1100. www.foodbankforwestchester.org.

Food Bank for Westchester (FBW) received a $10,000 donation from Sam's Club. Pictured (left to right): President of the Board of Directors for FBW, Spencer Barback; Jennifer Logan of Sam's Club; and FBW's Executive Director, Christina Rohatynskyj.